

Center for Religious Inquiry

AT WILSHIRE BOULEVARD TEMPLE

Mipnei d'archei shalom –

Because it leads to paths of peace –

The Center for Religious Inquiry reaches out to Angelenos of all faiths and traditions to teach us, to learn with us, to join us as we do our part...

mipnei d'archei shalom.

because it leads to paths of peace.

"PEACE has never come from dropping bombs. Real peace comes from ENLIGHTENMENT and educating people to behave more in a divine manner."

These wise words of Carlos Santana bear repeating as we approach the next few months in American and world events. The DYNAMIC situation of an election that on numerous levels will be historic, the CHALLENGES to religious leaders and laity alike to face an ever-growing divide between rich and poor, and the constant reality that our technological world tempts us to learn with "10-second sound bites" all inform our programming this fall. GOD LOVES BEAUTY

– an interfaith arts festival to offer us a week of TRANQUILITY and inspiration; a course on Islam designed for you, the attendee, to help guide topics, and the first screening in our CRI FILM FEST – The Last Jews of Libya, all combine in a semester filled with opportunity to LEARN, to engage, and to encounter scholars and religious leaders "up close and personal" for opportunities filled with meaning.

Rabbi Stephen Julius Stein

Director, The Center for Religious Inquiry

AMERICA: THE MORAL NATION

As Americans face a critical election, we also realize there are significant religious implications arising from who we are as a nation of many faiths, and where we are headed as cultural and sacred traditions continue to enlighten – and sometimes, challenge us.

Thomas Jefferson's Bible: Can We Cut and Paste Scripture?

One of America's founding fathers combed through the Bible and created his "wee little book" of 46 pages that contained in his opinion, "the most sublime and benevolent code of morals which has ever been offered to man." What parts – if any – of the Bible may we feel free to cut? Which verses are more – or most important? Join Roy Ritchie as he introduces us to Jefferson's version of the Bible and helps us understand what he valued and why – and how it might influence our beliefs.

Roy Ritchie is W.M. Keck Foundation's Director of Research and Education at the Huntington Library in San Marino, California. Dr. Ritchie is a renowned historian of early American history, and of Thomas Jefferson in particular.

Same-Sex Marriage: Civil Right – Religious Rite?

A panel of religious and legal leaders will engage us in a discussion of this challenging topic, helping us understand the role of marriage in religious and secular history, and how same-sex marriage may or may not fit into contemporary legal and/or religious discourse.

Politics and the Pulpit: How and When Do We Draw the Line?

Since the prophet Isaiah, the pulpit has been a powerful place to encourage a community to "do the right thing." Can preachers do that now, and if so, to what degree is speaking about politics—and particularly, political candidates—acceptable to congregants, to communities, and to the government?

ADVENTURES IN THE ARTS

CRI FILMFEST BEGINS:

The Last Jews of Libya

Jews lived in this North African country for 2,300 years, creating a vibrant and important religious community. Its modern history, beautiful, powerful, and sad, have come together in a moving film that attests to contemporary realities and eternal beliefs. Don't miss this movie and the chance to speak with one of the last Libyan Jews and the filmmaker, Vivienne Roumani-Denn.

Wednesday, Dec. 10, 7:30 p.m.

Ince Theater, Sony Pictures Digital Production Campus

God Loves Beauty: An Interfaith Festival of the Arts

CRI is proud to host the fourth annual celebration of visual, dramatic, and performing arts from Jewish, Christian, and Muslim traditions, highlighting creativity as it arises from the inspiration of faith. An exciting, week-long visual arts exhibition and two, one-time-only special events make this an extraordinary experience sure to inspire you!

November 14–20, 2008. The Temple Campus, 3663 Wilshire Bl., Los Angeles 90010

Halleluyah – Songs of Praise!

Sunday, November 16, 2008, 3:00 p.m. $15 per person

Revel in the songs and theatre traditions from Jewish, Christian, and Islamic performers as they join together in a unique afternoon focused on how we, through music and faith, connect to God.

Venice and the Islamic World

Tuesday, November 18, 2008, 7:30 p.m. $15 per person

From the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, this exhibition examines the relationship between Venice and the Islamic world over a thousand-year period, focusing on artistic and cultural ideas and the reasons why a large number of Venetian paintings, drawings, printed books, and especially decorative artworks were influenced by and drew inspiration from art of the Islamic world.

Trinita Kennedy, former curator at the MET™, helped organize this exhibition and will present visual selections as well as speak about the unique confluence of Italian and Islamic art.
